

What drives the  $M^2$  change —  $M^2 = \pi \cdot d_0 \cdot \theta / (8\lambda)$ , so it is the product of waist size and divergence (solid + filled = 50  $\mu\text{m}$ , dashed + hollow = 105  $\mu\text{m}$ ; each relative to its own 0-magnet baseline)

